Collaboration between two female artists using different mediums. Amy Caterina, photographer (American artist) and Beatrice Magalotti, sculptor (Australian Artist) met in Iceland in 2018 and have continued a dialogue relating to their art practices. During 2020 due to the pandemic and not being able to meet, they decide to collaborate on a visual project using digital apps and programs. This project is a visual discussion of images and textiles between Amy and Beatrice, responding to each other's works.
